...Did you know we have MakerSpaces?

Did you know you can 3D Print at the library? Did you know you could make your podcast at the library? Did you know you could cut letters, numbers, animals, and such for your scrap book at the library? It's true!

The library has had MakerSpaces for over 5 years now in most of our locations. You can 3D print something new, learn to sew, or even play with electronics. All you have to do is go to the library with the equipment you want to use, do a small safety training and hands-on training project, and you're all set. Each branch has a different focus on what the MakerSpace offers. Every branch has at least one 3D printer, and the library staff are always happy to help you get started. Libraries have always been a great place to learn something new.

For instance if you want to record a podcast or make a green screen video, visit our Washington Branch. If you're interested in sewing and embroidery, check out our Hurricane branch. Santa Clara has vinyl cutters and button makers. St. George has soldering, laser cutter, CNC cutting, and a band saw for wood cutting among other items. Here is a list of our variety of offerings:

Employee Spotlight

I am pleased to present Edie Whitehead as the employee spotlight for January.

Edie worked as a substitute prior to becoming a part time clerk at the New Harmony Branch. She is a familiar face in New Harmony, but also in several other locations like Springdale, Washington, and so forth. Last summer she was thrust into Summer Reading with very little preparation and handled it like a champ. She has jumped into her role as a coordinator for our youth service programming and plans our weekly story time. She also coordinates volunteer efforts in New Harmony and makes sure everything is ready. Edie handles the money from the cash register and sends deposit reports to the Treasurer's Office twice a week.

In New Harmony she also takes care of receiving new periodicals as they arrive, and puts them out for patron use. She is always willing to do whatever needs to be done, including adjusting her work schedule if the need arises. She has taken on the goal of becoming more familiar with the literature in the children's department and is reporting to the rest of the staff on what she is learning. Edie is also the source of local information for us here at the library and knows local people and places that can serve as resources to our patrons.

Edie is a long time resident of New Harmony, but did spend a number of years working in the Clark County School District in Nevada. We appreciate her as part the library team, and love working with her.

Valentine's Day is fast approaching, and at this point (depending on when you read this newsletter), you may be thinking of all the Valentine's Day plans you've yet to make, panicking because the date is imminent and you still haven't made any reservations for a nice restaurant, or gulping because you've just realized that you, in fact, entirely forgot about the holiday and it is now February 15th. Well. To prevent any of the above disasters from happening, may the library provide a suggestion or two for your Valentine's Day plans?

First, why not book a date to the library? You can come in and browse for items without a reservation! We have plenty of books of poetry to read to your loved one! And, we have a good selection of DVDs if you want to stay home and make a romantic dinner and watch a movie. Here are a few new titles you could try:

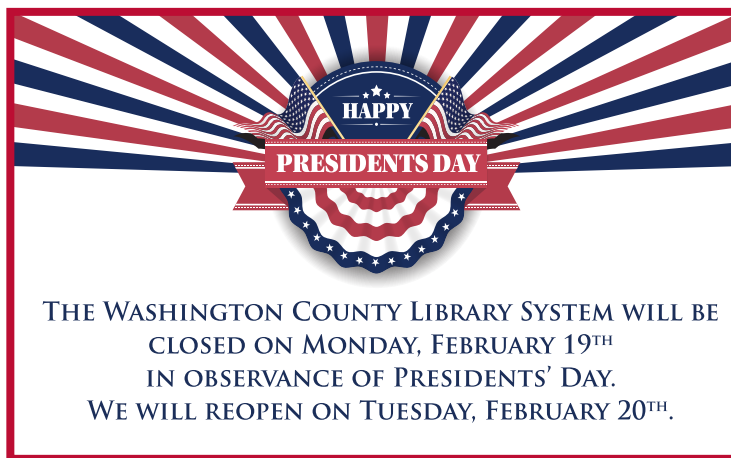

MOVIES

- Trolls: Band Together
- First Sunday
- On Angel's Wings
- Dancing Detective- Deadly Tango
- Facing Monsters (Documentary)

TELEVISION

- Harry Wild - Season 2
- Special Ops: Lioness - Season 1
- Billions - Season 7
- Now Hear This: Great Performances - Season 4
- America After 9/11: Frontline

Valentine's Day plans can be expensive. But this one doesn't have to be, because DVDs are FREE to check out with your Washington County Library Card! So swing by the library, pick up a DVD to watch with your love, and have an utterly romantic, or at least utterly entertaining Valentine's Day!
